

LEE HECHT HARRISON

A complimentary recorded webinar for spouses and partners in need of career services!

Who can attend:

Spouses or partners who are currently in job search and may need career support.

Do you have a spouse or partner who is recently unemployed? They can now take advantage of our partnership with the career transition specialists at Lee Hecht Harrison (LHH). They are offering an exclusive and complimentary recorded career webinar series designed to support spouses and partners who have lost their jobs.

Make the most of this complimentary service.

In today's environment, it is so important for job seekers to use the latest search strategies. That's why your spouse or partner should consider taking advantage of this professional training webinar featuring the expert insights of LHH.

What does the recorded webinar offer?

Each webinar runs for 90 minutes and is presented by LHH professional career coaches. Registering for each module is as simple as clicking on one of the following webinar career topics and completing the online registration form – just forward this information to your spouse or partner so they can register today!

Career topics:

Assessing your career opportunities

Click here to view this recorded webinar

- What's out there and what do you want to do? – These important questions need answers before launching a job search. Attendees will learn how to assess their skills, priorities, and interests, and how to develop a clear professional objective.
- Communications strategy – Learn the secrets to strong professional statements and the very important role they play in the job search.
- Resume essentials – We provide tips on how to turn a resume into a smart marketing piece for an effective job search.

Implementing your career strategy

Click here to view this recorded webinar

- Marketing plan and productivity – We will explore potential barriers in the search process, as well as how to track and measure search activities, and how to successfully manage the job search.
- Effective networking – Information and advice are critical to a successful search. Our approach to networking provides insights into the job seeker's existing network of friends, family, and colleagues. We'll also touch on how to leverage the social networking tools on the web that have become so popular.

Managing your job search

Click here to view this recorded webinar

- Search methods and correspondence – Networking remains the most effective search method, but job seekers should look at other sources as well. We'll talk about writing cover letters, follow-up letters, and emails. We'll also offer some great tips on choosing the right search resources and using them.
- Interviewing essentials – In this seminar, we'll offer important preparation techniques for interviews being conducted by today's companies. You'll also find out what questions you should be asking during the interview.

About Lee Hecht Harrison

Established in 1974, Lee Hecht Harrison is a global talent management solutions company with over 240 offices worldwide providing expertise in Career Transition, Leadership Consulting and Workforce Solutions.